

Supporting Local Businesses in Nottingham Transcript

MARKETING DESCRIPTION: A tour of local and independent shops and cafes of Nottingham given by Welcome Committee 2020.

WEBSITE: N/A

Here we are today in Old Market Square. This is the centre of Nottingham and the square hosts many events throughout the year such as the Christmas fair and a beach in the summer. So today we are going to be giving you a tour of some of the local, independent shops and cafes you will find around the city, hopefully, you can go and explore some of them and support local businesses in the process.

Here we are at 200° Coffee, Nottingham's own independent coffee brand where the beans are roasted here in Nottingham.

You can also get 200 Degrees in Portland Coffee Co in the Portland Building at University Park Campus.

Go across the Market Square to visit Kitty Café, where you can enjoy coffee and a cake with loads of cats.

Here we are stood outside Doughnotts, which serves handmade donuts made here in Nottingham. There are so many different flavours available here to try and there are even gluten free and vegan options available.

Nottingham has loads of vintage and second-hand stores for you to choose from. Join us whilst we show you a selection of them now.

Hockley Kitchen

Ugly Bread Bakery

From Hockley you can go on into Sneinton Market home to great coffee shops such as Blend where you can bring your laptop and work in a relaxing atmosphere.

You can also head into the Lace Market, home to Annie's Burger Shack where there's wacky and creative American style burgers.

Here we are stood outside Rough Trade, an independent record shop. It also hosts pop up concessions regularly and there is a bar upstairs which hosts live music for you to enjoy.

Here we are outside our final destination at Nottingham Victoria Centre, where you can head on upstairs to the Clocktower dining area and visit the Nottingham Street Food Club where they have pop up vendors on a regular basis.

So, as we said, this is the final destination on our tour today but there are so many places for you to come explore in Nottingham.

So definitely come and take a look around.
